

Foon Hay Cha Cha Cha Notes

- Record the gross score for each member of your group on each hole.
- You may bump the ball 12”, no closer to the hole, from tee to green as needed to make it more playable.
- On the green, the usual rules apply except you may take a “gimme” if the entire ball is within 12” of the hole. Include the gimme stroke into your total for that hole.
- Use the tees indicated for your flight.
- Max scores are:
 - Double-par + 1: Max on par-3 = 7; Max on par-4 =9; Max on par-5 = 11
- Each team will get two scorecards, one per cart. Turn one completed scorecard in to Clarence at the end of your round after you’ve checked scores with the other cart.

Scoring Cha Cha Cha

Note: The computer will do all the heavy math if you wish, or you can play along and see how your team is doing. Here’s how:

There are “dots” on the scorecard otherwise known as “pops”. The number of pops should add up to your course handicap. Having entered your total number of strokes taken on a hole, subtract the number of pops from that number to get your net score. Then check the net scores for all your group members and record a TEAM score as follows:

On Par-5 holes, the team score is the single lowest net score

On Par-4 holes, the team score is the total of the two lowest net scores

On Par-3 holes, the team score is the total of the three lowest net scores

At Canyon Lakes, par for your team is 137.

If you wish, you can simply bring your scorecard with the raw scores to Clarence and he will enter them into his computer which will add up the scores and calculate your Cha Cha Cha total.

If your team is missing a member

If you only have 3 players, go on out and shoot your best scores for 2025. When you come in, let Clarence know and he will help you choose a Blind Draw Partner. You won’t know who that is and they won’t know how essential they were to your team’s overall score. Note the Blind Draw can only help you, not hurt you.

Have fun!

Clarence Bakken